Description

The CMS-24 has a manual Audio/Video selector for two cameras and one external source, e.g. for DVD player or satellite receiver. The input source can be selected by a cabled control panel which allows hidden installation of the A/V selector. Both camera inputs operate in either normal or mirror mode. The monitor does not need to have a mirror function. If two cameras are connected to the CMS-24, the image going to the monitor can be manually or automatically switched between the two. In difficult situations this feature is very useful. The CMS-24 is an essential accessory for display devices with only one Audio/Video input.
